WINE PAIRING TIPS

COLD CUTS

Light red wines, such as a Beaujolais, pair well with cold cuts.

CHEESE

Instead of the often recommended red wine, try white wine with cheese, especially when eating soft rind cheese and goat cheese

POULTRY

Instead of a predictable white wine, why not a light-bodied red wine such as pinot noir with chicken, duck, quail or guinea hen?

WHITE FISH

An unoaked Chardonnay pairs wonderfully with fish such as halibut, sea bass, sole and cod.

SMOKED FISH

Opt for a lightly-oaked Chardonnay with smoked fish, especially smoked salmon.

SPICY DISHES AND CURRIES

Thai, Indian, and Chinese dishes come to life when paired with a fruity Riesling or Gewürztraminer.

SUSHI

Try a dry sparkling wine for sushi, and for a special occasion, make it Champagne.

PORK

A medium-bodied red wine such as Côtes-du-Rhone, or New World pinot noir work well with pork. If you are serving it with a fruity sauce, try a full-bodied Chardonnay.

BEEF

Reach for a full-bodied red such as Bordeaux for roast beef. For steak, a New World Cabernet-Sauvignon or Spanish Rioja is hard to beat.

WILD MEATS LIKE BISON, BOAR OR DEER

The woody, animal-like flavours in a syrah-based wine (shiraz in Australia) work wonders with wild meats.

DESSERTS

Ruby Port or Banyuls pair well with chocolate desserts. For pecan pie, a tawny port or Madeira would be ideal.

WHY NOT BEER

Wine is the traditional alcoholic beverage of choice with fancy meals but why not give beer a go? Not only does it pair beautifully with cheese, beer also works well with spicy and fried food, stews, curries and sausages. With that gourmet burger, beer is hard to beat!
